MONDAY EVENING, JULY 17.

ENGLAND AND VIRGINIA.—Now that a line of steamers is established between Norfolk and Liverpool, the Virginia papers renew their speculations in regard to attracting laborers. They propose the formation of a reliable organization, whose statements would be credited and made good, to induce immigration. English labor can be procured under contract for five years at the rate of $60 for the first year, $80 for the second, and $100 for the remaining years of the contract, whenever assurances can be afforded the emigrant that there is no perchance attending his change of domicile. The movement is an important one, and will do more for the settlement of the waste places of Virginia than any other plan which has been devised. It is State and corporate immigration bureaus that have been most successful in inducing foreigners to settle in the South. Left to themselves, the immigrants follow the old lines of travel, and hunt up their own people in the North and West.—N. Y. Comm.

USE OF EPIPHES.—A lawyer once wrote "rascal" in the hat of a brother lawyer, who, on discovering it, entered a complaint in open court against the trespasser, who, he said, had not only taken his hat, but had written his own name in it.

This reminds us of a story told of John Randolph, who, meeting with the Hon. on Pennsylvania Avenue, was saluted with the remark: "I never give the road to a rascal." Mr. Randolph immediately responded: "I always do," and suiting his action to his words, stepped quickly aside. The moral we would deduce from these incidents, is: Never give your enemy a cudgel with which to break your own head.
